See Do your SMC eLearning for how to find and enrol in a course.

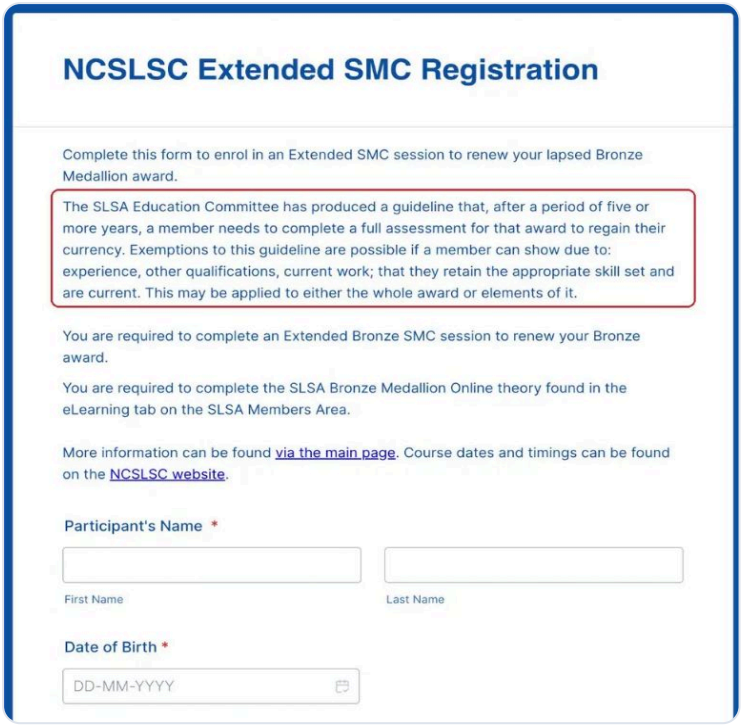

4

Open the Extended SMC form

Club form › page 1

Open the Extended SMC form and read the top. Exemptions for experience, other qualifications or your job are possible.

Fill in your name, date of birth and email.

NCSLSC Extended SMC Registration

Complete this form to enrol in an Extended SMC session to renew your lapsed Bronze Medallion award.

The SLSA Education Committee has produced a guideline that, after a period of five or more years, a member needs to complete a full assessment for that award to regain their currency. Exemptions to this guideline are possible if a member can show due to: experience, other qualifications, current work; that they retain the appropriate skill set and are current. This may be applied to either the whole award or elements of it.

You are required to complete an Extended Bronze SMC session to renew your Bronze award.

You are required to complete the SLSA Bronze Medallion Online theory found in the eLearning tab on the SLSA Members Area.

More information can be found via the main page. Course dates and timings can be found on the NCSLSC website.

Tell us about your award

Pick your award and type the year it ran out (usually 31 December of that year).

Answer the membership and SLS account questions, then tap Next.

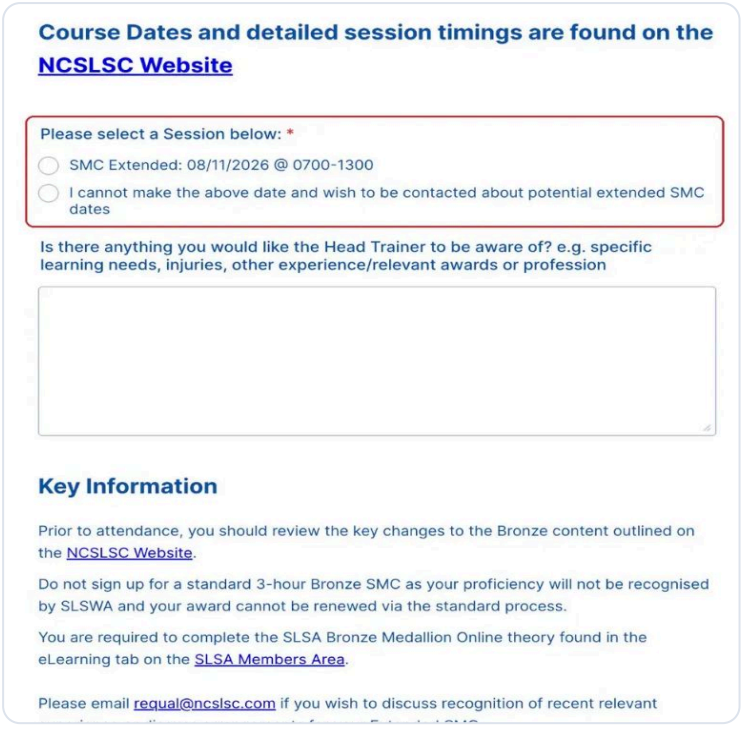

6

Choose the session

Pick the Extended SMC session. It's about six hours at the club.

Can't make it? Pick “I cannot make the above date” and we'll contact you. Don't book a standard SMC: SLSWA won't recognise it for a lapsed award.

7

Ask us about experience, then submit

Club form › page 2

Want recent experience recognised? Email requal@ncslsc.com before the day.

Add anything the Head Trainer should know (injuries, other awards, your job), then tap Submit.
